- Sandra Hi! We're off this afternoon; I wondered whether you wouldn't mind keeping an eye on the place?
- Lorna Of course! Not a problem. Going somewhere nice?
- Sandra Oh, we thought we'd put the tent in and head south in search of the sun.
- Lorna That sounds good.
- Sandra Oh thanks, but I was wondering if you could help me with a few language tips?
- Lorna Of course, what did you want to know?
- Sandra How do you say 'have you got space for a large tent ?'
- Lorna Well, you just say: 'Avez-vous de la place pour une grande tente ?'
- Sandra 'Avez-vous de la place pour une grande tente ?' Good, and 'where can I find drinking water?'
- Lorna 'Est-ce que toute l'eau est potable ?'
- Sandra 'Est-ce que toute l'eau est potable ?' Right, I think I've got that. Now what about 'where are the showers and the toilets?'
- Lorna Well, showers are 'les douches' and toilets are 'les toilettes'. So you just ask: 'Où sont les douches ?' or 'Où sont les toilettes ?'
- Sandra 'Où sont les douches ?' or 'Où sont les toilettes ?'.
- Lorna Bien ! Excellent !
- Sandra Now, I think our gas is running out. How am I going to ask: 'where can I buy a gas cylinder?'
- Lorna Ah, well that's not too difficult. You just ask: 'Où puis-je acheter...' that means : 'where can I buy...' so, 'Où puis-je acheter une bouteille de gaz ?'
- Sandra 'Où puis-je acheter une bouteille de gaz ?'. Now, if the weather is nice, we might go cycling. How can I ask about renting a bike?
- Lorna 'Puis-je louer un vélo ?'.
- Sandra 'Puis-je louer un vélo ?'. Oh, thanks again !
- Lorna Well, I hope you find the sun. Bon voyage!
- Sandra We'll send a postcard! Bye.
- Lorna Au revoir!
